

Summary

A 75 years old male was referred to cardiology unit with recurrent syncopal attacks, shortness of breath for one month duration who was a diagnosed patient with Heart failure, Tripple vessel disease, Type 2 Dibetes Mellitus, Dyslipidaemia, Hypertension, with a history of Transient Ischaemic Attack, was diagnosed as Sick Sinus Syndrome and underwent Permanent pacemaker Implantation.