

ABSTRACT

Autoimmune polyglandular syndromes are inherited disorders of multiple hormonal deficiencies due to cell mediated autoimmune antibodies against specific endocrine glands. It is categorized in to three subtypes and type 2 consist of Addison's disease, Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus, Primary hypothyroidism and less commonly Primary gonadal failure, chronic gastritis, Pernicious anemia and alopecia areata.