

Abstract

Kikuchi Disease is a histiocytic necrotizing lymphadenitis mainly involves the cervical lymph nodes. It is a self limiting, benign, rare condition of unknown etiology mainly affects the young women in Asia and mainly characterized by cervical lymphadenopathy and fever.
